How we deal with conflicts of interest

Zenith has a Conflicts of Interest Policy governing the financial products and services that we provide. This policy includes governance relating (but not limited to) the following issues;

Remuneration: Zenith provides services to wholesale clients (financial advisers) via subscription to its website. Zenith charges fees for these services which are tailored in relation to the depth of services provided. Zenith also receives fees for providing investment consulting services to clients. Investment consulting services include but are not limited to provision of advice in relation to managed accounts, model portfolios and approved product lists. Fees charged in relation to investment consulting services may be flat fees or asset based fees. The fees for some consulting/managed account arrangements may be determined by private agreement and take into consideration the overall depth and complexity of services provided. No fees charged are linked to any Product Assessment rating outcomes or the inclusion of financial products in portfolios or approved product lists. Zenith also ensures that any discussions relating to remuneration occurs with appropriate information barriers in place.

Communication policies: Zenith's policy on communications ensures that relevant information is not communicated outside of Zenith prior to reports being provided to clients. While fund managers are permitted to check draft reports for factual accuracy under controlled circumstances, recommendations or opinions contained within such reports are not provided.

Approval process: Research quality and integrity is maintained by ensuring all research is approved by peer groups and authorised by experienced supervisors, usually at Director/ General Manager level.

Material interests: Directors and employees generally do not have a material interest in any of the financial products on which it provides investment research. Should Zenith, its Directors or staff have any financial interests in such a product, action will be taken in accordance with our Conflicts of Interest Policy, which includes mandatory disclosure of these interests in the relevant report, adherence to staff trading closed periods, declining to provide investment research or exclusion of any individuals with an interest from the research process.

Associations or relationships: Zenith has no related party or other association links with product issuers or fund managers. Conflict management arrangements are in place where Zenith provides research services to financial advisory businesses that provide financial planning services to investors and are also associated entities of product issuers. Where applicable, any such relationships are disclosed in the relevant Zenith Product Assessment Reports.
